3 GOOD HEALTH AND WELL-BEING

Ensure healthy lives and promote well-being for all at all ages

More funding for health systems is required to solve long-standing issues in healthcare and help nations recover from past losses. This will also help them become more resilient to future health risks.

38 Case studies
Published targeting Sustainable Development Goal 3.

24 Countries
Involved in research related to Sustainable Development Goal 3.

The Reach Alliance pursues the full achievement of the SDGs by equipping and empowering the next generation of global leaders to create knowledge and inspire action on reaching the hardest to reach. Below are some examples of case study research targeting Sustainable Development Goal 3.

CANADA
Operation Remote Immunity: Providing Vaccines in Remote Indigenous Communities

BARBADOS
Barbados's Trident: A Multipronged Approach to Combatting Childhood Obesity through Advocacy, Policy, and Education

UNITED KINGDOM
Accessing Maternal Healthcare in a Hostile Environment

NEPAL
Maternal Healthcare for Women with Disabilities in Nepal

MEXICO
Unsupported Medical Interns in Rural Medical Units, Nuevo León

THAILAND
Eliminating Mother-To-Child Transmission of HIV

PERU
Addressing Anemia in Peru: Nutri-H's Iron-Fortified Solutions

GHANA
The "No Bed Syndrome" in Ghanaian Tertiary Hospitals

ZIMBABWE
Africaid's Zvandiri: Peer Support Interventions for Young Mothers Living with HIV

INDIA
Atmiyata: Addressing Mental Distress in India

---

PUBLICATIONS

Effectively sharing research is key to ensuring that findings have an impact and Reach case study research findings have been covered in thought leadership publications such as Devex and Stanford Social Innovation Review.

HEALTHY DEBATE
Untapped potential: Young leaders have the tools to help address health-care challenges

*"During the pandemic, driven by motivation and enthusiasm to support community initiatives, young leaders were able to demonstrate the impact they can make when provided resources and opportunity."

BMJ GLOBAL HEALTH
Eliminating malaria in conflict zones: public health strategies developed in the Sri Lanka Civil War

"These strategies included collaboration between groups involved in the conflict, centralised leadership and decentralised programme operations, stakeholder engagement to fill in gaps left by conflict and continuous efforts to prevent reintroduction of malaria."

THE LANCET
The politics of universal health coverage

*"Moving towards universal health coverage is a complex process. A host of factors need to be aligned for universal health coverage to become a reality, including health systems knowledge, medical expertise, economic and fiscal capacity, and technical policy making skills, among others."

INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF HEALTHCARE
Making sense of Rwanda's remarkable vaccine coverage success

*"We determined that four factors have had a major influence on the Rwandan vaccine program, including strong central government leadership (political will), a culture of accountability, local ownership and a strong health value chain."

MUNK SCHOOL OF GLOBAL AFFAIRS & PUBLIC POLICY
Reach Alliance Case Study: How can self-directed home care reach the hardest to reach?

*"We are trying to take a deeper dive into self-directed models of home care and understand how they work from the perspective of those who provide the services, those who organize the services and those who are leaders in the delivery of healthcare in Canada."